Possibly the chilliest place you could ever $(1) \dots$ in is the Snow Village Ice Hotel, $(2) \dots$ in northern Finland. The hotel $(3) \dots$ the warmest of welcomes in the coldest of settings. The walls, ceilings, and furniture — including the beds — are all $(4) \dots$ from ice, so the indoor temperature stays permanently below zero. Before sending you off to your personal room for the night the hotel $(5) \dots$ a mattress, a blanket made of reindeer (ceeepholii onenb) skin, and a thermal sleeping $(6) \dots$. Lying in bed, $(7) \dots$ will be impressed by total silence. Slippery surfaces and icy corners are everywhere, and the hotel's lights remain $(8) \dots$ on all night. Last time I was there I $(9) \dots$ in bed for hours counting reindeer jumping over fences. I finally $(10) \dots$ asleep at 5.00 a.m. after enjoying a very brief glimpse of the legendary Northern Lights, magical displays of blue and green light visible in the night sky up to 200 times a year.
