Stress is important. We all need a certain amount of it in order to $(1) \dots$ fulfilling lives. However, if we have too much of it, it can have the opposite $(2) \dots$. It is therefore a good idea to learn a few stress management techniques. Identifying the $(3) \dots$ of the problem we have, so that we can $(4) \dots$ it more effectively, is one of the first $(5) \dots$ towards reducing stress. The second is talking to a person you can trust, who will listen and, if necessary, $(6) \dots$ you some positive advice. Not only are smoking and drinking $(7) \dots$ to our health, they actually increase stress $(8) \dots$ than reduce it. So, next time you want to relax, instead of $(9) \dots$ for that glass of wine or a cigarette, have a warm bath or go for a walk. Walking has more than health benefits, it helps you think more clearly too. On the other hand, laughter is one of the best ways to $(10) \dots$ yourself feel considerably better.
